THE DAKAR DECLARATION &
ECOWAS PLAN OF ACTION FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL RESOLUTIONS
1325 AND 1820 IN WEST AFRICA

OUTCOME DOCUMENTS OF THE REGIONAL FORUM ON WOMEN, PEACE AND SECURITY
DAKAR, SEPTEMBER 2010
The Dakar Declaration on the implementation of UN Security Council resolution 1325 and its related regional plan of action for the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) were adopted in Dakar on 17 September at a Regional Forum entitled «Women Count for Peace».

The event took place at ministerial level on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of the UN Security Council resolution 1325 on women, peace and security. It was organized under the auspices of the UN Office for West Africa (UNOWA) in collaboration with various Regional Offices in West Africa such as the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM), the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), the High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), the United Nations Children’s Fund (UNICEF) and the UN Information Centre in Dakar (UNIC).

A regional Forum on the implementation of the United Nations Security Council Resolution 1325 on Women, Peace and Security was held in Dakar, Senegal from 15 to 17 September 2010 at the initiative of the United Nations Office for West Africa (UNOWA) and in close collaboration with the African Union (AU), the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS), the Mano River Union (MRU), the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), the United Nations Fund for Women (UNIFEM), UN-INSTRAW, the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), and the United Nations Children Fund (UNICEF).

The Forum was attended by the Vice President of the Republic of the Gambia, the Ministers in charge of gender and women empowerment of Senegal, Niger, Togo, Sierra Leone, Ghana, Mali, Guinea, Guinea Bissau, Mauritania and senior government officials from Cote d’Ivoire, Benin, Liberia and Nigeria.

Representatives of the African Union, United Nations Peace Missions, Programs and Funds as well as Civil Society institutions and organizations from West Africa also participated at the forum.

For three days participants took stock of the implementation of resolution 1325 in the Member States and devoted particular attention on the challenges as well as the perspectives of the resolution in the area of participation, protection, prevention and relief and recovery. The forum adopted the ECOWAS Plan of Action for the implementation of the UNSCR 1325 in West Africa. The implementation of the ECOWAS Plan of Action will be coordinated by ECOWAS through its Gender Development Centre while the Network on Peace and Security for Women in the ECOWAS Region (NOPSWECO) will serve as the coordinating body for Civil Society Organisations in West Africa. An entity comprising West African Ministers in charge Women Affairs and Gender, ECOWAS, MRU, the African Union and United Nations will be responsible for monitoring and evaluating the implementation of the Plan of Action. The Forum agreed on the following recommendations:

1. Member States of the West African Region that have not yet done so should, before December 2010, elaborate a national plan of action on the implementation of resolution 1325 with the financial support of the United Nations.

2. Member States should guarantee and promote the systematic integration of gender in the processes of judicial and security sector reforms.

3. UNIFEM/UN-INSTRAW should work with ECOWAS through the Gender Development Center to support key actions of the departments in charge of gender in the implementation of the national plans of action and the United Nations Secretary General’s campaign to end violence against women.
4. Technical and financial partners should be committed to supporting the actions of civil society organizations in the area of peace and security.

Participation

- Promote women’s participation in mediation: more women will be trained as mediators and a community of practice of women mediators will be established at the regional level; ECOWAS and the AU will appoint more women as special envoys and senior mediators; database of female mediators in the region will be created; measures will be strengthened to encourage women’s full participation in electoral process and at all levels of decision making instances;

- Popularise Resolution 1325: through translations in local languages, training, sensitization, and awareness campaigns targeted at decision makers, police and military, judicial sector, schools, youth, local women as well as men groups. In addition the ‘Open Day’ will be institutionalized as a means for SRSGs to meet with women’s representatives regularly and be briefed on women’s issues in the region as well as an opportunity for sensitisation on the Resolution at national as well as regional levels,

Protection

- Strengthen measures to combat Sexual and Gender Based Violence (SGBV): political and security measures will be strengthened to protect women and girls from sexual and gender based violence during and after conflict; existing measures will be strengthened and new measures put in place where necessary to punish perpetrators of sexual and gender based violence. Furthermore, trainings, including pre-deployment trainings, on the prevention of sexual and gender based violence will be harmonized and conducted targeting civil and military personnel in peace keeping operations.

Prevention

- Strengthen preventive diplomacy: request the Special Representative of the Secretary General of the United Nations to use his good offices to actively and systematically consult with women, representing their demands in their efforts at preventive diplomacy in the region,

- Promote the development of a culture of peace by drawing on women’s traditional role as mediators and educators for peace so that future generations can be spared the scourge of war and violence; establishing a regional network of peace clubs in secondary schools and universities,
• Strengthen early warning mechanisms by launching the ECOWAS gender and early warning indicators and making resources available to populate them with data

• Encourage research and documentation of lessons learned as well as causes and dynamics of conflicts to enhance response effectiveness.

Relief and Recovery

• Adopt measures to ensure provision of adequate and accessible humanitarian services - measures will be adopted to ensure that humanitarian services provided reach women and girls and that such services can be accessed safely;

• Strengthen post-incident relief measures - measures will be strengthened to provide adequate access to health, psycho-social services and trauma counseling for sexual and gender-based violence survivors

• Strengthen socio-economic reintegration measures - measures will be strengthened to ensure effective socio-economic integration of women in post conflict reconstruction and rehabilitation programmes.

The forum further requested H.E. Said Djinnit, Special Representative of the Secretary General to present this declaration and the regional plan of action to the UN Secretaray-General and Member States during the ‘Global Open Day’ on 21 October held in the context of the 10th anniversary celebration of Resolution 1325 for recognition and support.

The Forum,
Dakar, 17 September 2010
ECOWAS PLAN OF ACTION FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL RESOLUTIONS 1325 AND 1820

The United Nations Security Council resolution 1325 was unanimously adopted in October 2000. It is a landmark legal and political framework that acknowledges the importance of the participation of women and the inclusion of gender perspectives in peace negotiations, humanitarian planning, peacekeeping operations, post-conflict peacebuilding and governance. Resolution 1325 has 4 main focus areas.

1. Participation of women at all levels of decision making, including:
   - in national, regional and international institutions;
   - in mechanisms for the prevention, management and resolution of conflicts;
   - in peace negotiations;
   - in peace operations, as soldiers, police and civilians;
   - as Special Representatives of the UN Secretary-General.

2. Protection of women and girls from sexual and gender-based violence, including:
   - in emergency and humanitarian situations, such as in refugee camps;
   - through pre-deployment and in-theatre training to peace operations personnel on the rights of women and girls and effective protection measures.

3. Prevention of violence against women through the promotion of women’s rights, accountability and law enforcement, including by:
   - prosecuting those responsible for war crimes, genocide, crimes against humanity and other violations of international law;
   - respecting the civilian and humanitarian nature of refugee camps;
   - excluding sexual violence crimes from amnesty agreements, as they may amount to crimes against humanity, war crimes or genocide;
   - strengthening women’s rights under national law;
   - supporting local women’s peace initiatives and conflict resolution processes.

4. Mainstreaming of gender perspectives in peace operations, including by:
   - appointing Gender Advisors to all UN peace operations;
   - considering the specific needs of women and girls in the design and development of policy in all areas;
   - incorporating the perspectives, contributions and experience of women’s organizations in policy and programme development.

Resolution 1820 (2008) recognizes conflict-related sexual violence as a matter of international peace and security. The resolution calls for:

a. armed actors to end the practice of using sexual violence against civilians to achieve political or military ends
b. all parties to conflict to counter impunity for sexual violence and provide effective protection for civilians
c. the United Nations and peace operations to develop mechanisms to prevent and respond to sexual violence.
