

Join the

People's General Assembly on Development Justice

11 AM Saturday
21 September 2013

bring a picnic!

Thomas Paine Park (Foley Square)
111 Worth St #4g, New York, NY 10013
Between Worth St. & Centre St.

This event will be an opportunity for solidarity with people from grassroots organizations and social movements who will share their own vision of a just and equitable world. The People's GA will be the venue for people to challenge government leaders to address the most pressing issues affecting the wellbeing of the people and the environment.

Speakers:

Eni Lestari, an Indonesian migrant worker who will speak of her experience in campaigning for migrant rights

Helen Hakena, human rights activist working on post conflict issues in Bougainville, Papua New Guinea

Nim Chray, a village resident living near Phnom Phen International Airport who was arrested after protesting against forced evictions

Mila Lingbawan-Singson, indigenous woman working in communities adversely affected by extractive industries

Taslima Akhter, Bangladeshi photojournalist and activist who documented the lives and struggles of garment workers

Abia Akram, works on giving voice to women leaders with disabilities

For more information, contact
cwgl@rci.rutgers.edu
apwld@apwld.org
<http://peoplesgoals.org/>
<http://www.facebook.com/apwld.ngo>

Center for Women's
Global Leadership

Join the

People's General Assembly on Development Justice

11 AM Saturday
21 September 2013

bring a picnic!

Thomas Paine Park (Foley Square)
111 Worth St #4g, New York, NY 10013
Between Worth St. & Centre St.

This event will be an opportunity for solidarity with people from grassroots organizations and social movements who will share their own vision of a just and equitable world. The People's GA will be the venue for people to challenge government leaders to address the most pressing issues affecting the wellbeing of the people and the environment.

Speakers:

Eni Lestari, an Indonesian migrant worker who will speak of her experience in campaigning for migrant rights

Helen Hakena, human rights activist working on post conflict issues in Bougainville, Papua New Guinea

Nim Chray, a village resident living near Phnom Phen International Airport who was arrested after protesting against forced evictions

Mila Lingbawan-Singson, indigenous woman working in communities adversely affected by extractive industries

Taslima Akhter, Bangladeshi photojournalist and activist who documented the lives and struggles of garment workers

Abia Akram, works on giving voice to women leaders with disabilities

For more information, contact
cwgl@rci.rutgers.edu
apwld@apwld.org
<http://peoplesgoals.org/>
<http://www.facebook.com/apwld.ngo>

Center for Women's
Global Leadership

